Another Confab.

At the request of General Passenger Agent Stone, Messrs John M. Farra and Louis Landram went to Louisville today to confer with that official regarding the change of trains on this branch of the road. So many stories have been circulated as to what the company is going to do that The Record will quote Mr. Stone's exact language, viz: "We have not decided what we will do, and still have the matter under consideration." We believe the change will be made and when put in effect Lancaster will have as good railroad connections as any town in the state.

Richmond Appreciated It.

Climax:—The Richmond party was royally entertained and returned Saturday eloquent in their praises of Lancaster and her clever, hospitable citizens.

If you want to hear some soul-stirring music, and preaching that will put you on the right road to live a better life, attend the services being held at the Christian church. Go early and hear the music.

The painting at the Presbyterian church was not dry Sunday, and through the kindness of the Methodist brethren services were held in the latter church. Dr. McDonald preaching in the morning and Dr. McKee at night.

Three to Two.

The regular first team of Central University came down Saturday and were bested by the local lads to the tune of three to two. It was a warm game from start to finish. The Richmond boys were gentlemen, and the "scrapping" sometimes indulged in at base ball games was conspicuous by its absence.

A Handsome Job of Painting.

The prettiest job of painting that we have seen is on the interior of the Presbyterian church. The work was done by Tom Jennings and J. L. Smith, two local workmen who are skilled in their line. The ceiling is a beautiful sky-blue, the side walls being of a lighter color. The pews and other woodwork are finished in oak, and shine like a new pin. The work is worth going to see.

Caps the Climax.

The most artistic and successful souvenir edition that has come to our desk is that gotten out by the Williamson Courier. It is issued in book form, printed on fine paper, and the press work cannot be excelled. The work reflects great credit upon the Courier job office, while the reading matter shows much hard labor and careful preparation. We congratulate our good friend, Judge John H. Westover, and wish him many more years of prosperity. He makes the Courier one of the top-notchers of Kentucky newspapers, and the people of his section of the state should feel proud of his untiring efforts.

Toll Gate Troubles in Boyle County.

It seems impossible to keep a toll gate on the strip of road in Boyle between Garrard and Hedgely. Four guards were placed there for several nights, who kept the raiders from the little hut, but these guards were removed and Friday night the hut was blown to atoms by dynamite. It was replaced and Monday night the raiders set fire to it and burned not only the hut, but the pole also. A collector is now on duty with a rope, which he stretches across the road in day time, but puts carefully away in his inside pocket at night. The company is anxious to dispose of the road, but very wisely objects to furnishing a highway free of charge.

They're coming, Father Abraham.

Official notice has been received from the delegation of Louisville business men that their special train will arrive in Lancaster Wednesday morning, June 19th. The delegation is composed of members of the Louisville Board of Trade, the Commercial Club and Merchants and Manufacturers' Association. There will be about 125 in the delegation, they will come in a train of Pullman sleepers and bring a fine band of music. They leave Louisville Tuesday morning, the 18th, go to Shelbyville, Lawrenceburg, Nicholasville, Richmond, and spend the night at Estill Springs. Early the next morning the train will run to Lancaster, arriving at, probably, ten o'clock. Several hours will be spent here, after which they go to Stanford, Danville, Lebanon and back home that night. The local Club is making preparations to entertain the visitors and make their stay pleasant. A committee has been appointed to look after the matter, and the program will be published in full, in next issue of The Record.

A Pretty Flower.

Miss Fannie Bishop has a geranium which now has fifty-five blooms. It is unusually pretty and is attracting much attention. She has a great many lovely flowers which are well worth going to see.

Dr. Goldstein Coming.

Those needing glasses fitted in the very best and most scientific manner will be delighted to know that Dr. Goldstein, the eminent optician, will visit Lancaster and be at the Garrard Hotel June 11, next Tuesday. He will only be in town a day or so, and you had better call early. See ad elsewhere in this issue.

Another Survey to be Made.

Secretary John M. Farra received a letter from President Spencer Tuesday stating that as soon as the engineers were through work in Boyle and Lincoln counties, they would be sent at once to make a locating line thro' Garrard county. It is thought they will be here within a few weeks. This backs up The Record's contention that this road is to be built, and that Garrard will have a fair square show at it. Its up to us, and if the right of way is given the road, we will get it as sure as the sun shines.

Push It Along.

Now that the Commercial Club is in fighting trim, The Record respectfully calls its attention to the fact that not one thing has ever been done toward putting in the system of water works for which the people voted so unanimously some two years ago. There is no disputing the fact that this system is needed more than any other improvement. The town is wholly without protection from fire, and, as we all know, in summer drinking water is frequently as scarce as politics in the promised land. The City Council granted a franchise to a St. Louis company, but that firm has not turned a wheel. Now, the thing to do is require them to shoot or give up the firearms. If anything is to be done, steps should be taken at once, so that the contractor may get the benefit of the summer months in which to lay pipes. The people have said at the polls that they wanted this improvement, so buckle on your armor, gentlemen, and see that it is forthcoming.

Death of George Lusk.

After a lingering illness, Geo. D. Lusk died at the home of his father-in-law, Col. Jno. W. Miller, in this city Monday afternoon. As was stated in a recent issue of The Record, he has been in declining health for more than a year. For the past few weeks he has lingered at death's door, and the end was expected at any time. Mr. Lusk was the second son of Judge Wm. Lusk, who was one of the most widely-known citizens of Garrard county. He was twenty-eight years of age, and in January, two years ago, was married to Miss Georgie, youngest daughter of Col. and Mrs. Jno. W. Miller. Beside the heart-broken young wife, he leaves two sisters, Misses Eliza and Jane, and one brother Will, to mourn his taking away. He united with the Presbyterian church several years since, and was a regular attendant at the services. There was never a bigger-hearted boy than George Lusk, nor one who was more ready to do a favor. For several years he was engaged in the Internal Revenue service, and was on duty until bad health forced him to retire. He realized the serious nature of his illness, and last week sent for Dr. J. L. McKee, who came from Danville and spent many hours talking with him. He was respected and highly thought of by all who knew him, and everyone in the community extends deepest sympathy to the loved ones he leaves behind. Dr. McKee conducted funeral services at the Presbyterian church Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock, after which the remains were interred at the Lancaster Cemetery.

Heberling's greenhouse is indeed a thing of beauty.

If you want the best Coffee on the market go to T. Currey.

You can get all kinds of fresh vegetables and strawberries at T. Currey's. Currey sells good goods as cheap as you pay for inferior goods at other places.

I want your butter and eggs for which will pay the highest price in cash or groceries. T. Currey.

Seed Corn.

Pure white and yellow seed corn for sale. Apply to H. A. B. Marksberry and Son.

Don't judge a man by the amount of weeds in front of his house, you might form too adverse an opinion of him. Make him no hoe.

Good Coal.

I have plenty of first-class coal on hand, which will be sold at very low prices. Give me a trial order. F. B. Kemper.

Mr. Long received a letter yesterday from the Bell Telephone people to give the free use of the wires to the Louisville business men, should they desire to use same while on their trip through the state.

Ex-Major Vandever Dead.

Mr. D. W. Vandever, one of Stanford's most prominent citizens, died in that city Monday and was buried Tuesday. The Masonic order, of which he was a devoted member, conducted the last sad rites.

Stenography and Typewriting.

Miss Lenna Hobbs, who recently graduated in shorthand and type writing at Midway College, has an office at the Telephone Exchange, where she is prepared to do work of this kind with neatness and dispatch. Charges are reasonable, and satisfaction guaranteed. If you have typewriting to do, take it to her.

A Screw Loose Somewhere.

The Livingston Colonel, which should have reached our desk last Friday, came in yesterday at noon. Many other exchanges make about as slow time, which goes to show that newspapers receive very slight attention by some postal clerks. If the paper men would report a few of these matters to the officials at Washington, some little 2x4 employees would be relieved of the responsible position of having the government of the entire nation rest upon their shoulders.

Organdies, Lawns and Dimities at Ward & Simpson.

Extra nice country hams 9 to 10 lbs each, at Ward & Simpson.

Ward & Simpson will not bother you by sending a boy to take your orders.

Potato bags have made their appearance, and the crop promises to be unusually large, (that is the "bug" crop.)

A few second-hand chenille portiers or table covers. Apply at The Record office.

Police-men Turner and Siler have received orders to begin killing dogs found without tax checks. Have your pup labeled, or he will go the way of all unpaid-for canines.

We furnish wall paper ready trimmed to put on the wall. We can please you in both style and price. Don't forget we have the largest stock in Central Kentucky. J. A. Beazley & Co.

A Big Game Saturday.

Arrangements have been made for a game of ball between the Harrodsburg nine and the home boys, on the Graded School grounds next Saturday. The same teams will play that put up such an excellent game some weeks ago, and a large crowd will see it.

Important Meeting Friday Night.

The Commercial Club held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday, but as some matters of importance are to be acted on this week, and certain information cannot be obtained until tomorrow, the meeting adjourned until tomorrow, Friday, night at 7:30 o'clock. It behooves every public spirited man to be at this meeting.

Married in this City.

Mr. Fred Yenger and Miss Kate West were married in this city Tuesday night at the residence of Mr. E. B. Kemper, on Lexington street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. B. A. Copass. Immediately after the ceremony the couple drove to his home near Bryansville. Mr. Yenger is a prosperous young farmer, and his bride a very attractive and accomplished young lady. The Record extends congratulations.

A nice line of glass and queens-ware at T. Curreys.

Take a Sunday meal at the New Garrard. They are delicious.

The prettiest wall paper in town is shown at Beazley's. Call and see samples.

Avoid delay and trouble during harvest by buying a valuable Deering machine. Sold by Gaines Bros.

Always on top in quantity and quality, and at the bottom in prices. T. Currey.

Successful and Enjoyable.

The protracted meeting at the Christian church is proving to be the most interesting held in Lancaster in recent years. Interest in church matters in Lancaster has not been very far above par recently, the members strolling to the Sunday services as though they were doing the Lord a favor by attending, but the excellent sermons of Rev. Allen R. Moore have had the effect of bringing not only the members of his church, but many others to the realization of the fact that they were far from the straight and narrow way. Interest in the meeting is so great that most all the business houses close and all hands go to church. There is nothing of the sensational about the meeting, Rev. Mr. Moore sticking strictly to the plain truths of the bible and bring them out in a manner that anyone can understand. An enjoyable feature of the meeting is the music, which is under charge of Prof. Taylor, of Indianapolis. This feature is especially enjoyable, the choir being made up of some of the best singers in the county. Mrs. Belle Burnside presides at the organ. If you will attend one of these services, you will miss very few of the rest of them.

CENTRAL RECORD.

— An Independent, Local Newspaper. —
Issued Weekly.

LOUIS LANDRAM, Editor and Publisher.

Lancaster, Ky., June 6, 1901.

The latest crank to succeed in getting his name in the papers is John Alexander Dowie, who, Sunday proclaimed himself to a Chicago audience as Elijah, the prophet, and the rest of it. Over 3,000 people rose to their feet to indicate their belief in the truth of his statement. In a frenzied speech Dowie cursed the Pope and the Roman Catholic church and scored Free Masonry, the newspapers and the bankers. He declared he had come to proclaim democracy and to place the name of God in the Constitution. His first message is for fifties. Such cranks as this could be brought to their senses if they were arrested as vagrants and put astride a rock pile for a few days. It is amazing that so many people are led to believe in such foolishness.

W. B. BELKNAP & Co., the Louisville hardware men, have increased their capital stock $250,000, making a total of one million. We note this from the fact that every newspaper reader in this section is familiar with the old, reliable firm. Their ad has appeared in the dailies constantly since they began business. Their success is an example for other advertisers, in that it shows that a big splutter of printer's ink occasionally is not the winner that is the constant use of a medium size space. Mr. Belknap is one of Louisville's most enterprising business men and is always at the front in any movement to advance the interests of that city.

WILLIAM MARKS, one of the clowns with Ringling Bros. circus, is preparing for the ministry, and applies his earnings in the sawdust ring toward paying tuition at a theological seminary during the winter months. This is certainly commendable in Mr. Marks, and we wish him all success, but fear that if he is ever called upon to conduct a funeral where there is a band in the procession, he will, when the music strikes up, suddenly mount one of the vehicles and begin to exclaim, "Free exhibition at the show grounds, high wire walking, balloon ascension, all free to everybody. All out to the show grounds."

EVER John Bull's "home papers" admit that Uncle Sam is the best man, by admitting the truth of Lord George Hamilton's statement that American manufactures are better and cheaper than the British, and all concede that Great Britain no longer leads the world as an industrial and manufacturing nation. The blame is laid at the door of the trades unions, which are charged with hindering the adoption of progressive methods. But the British are aroused, and there are already evidences that they propose to begin a struggle for the recovery of lost honors.

The botanical department of Harvard University sends out the startling information that the Irish potato is gradually degenerating and will soon be a thing of the past. If a majority of these college professors and students were given their proper places in the world, they would be armed with hoes cultivating the festive potato, and thus prevent such a calamity as they are now predicting.

Lexington Democrat:—"One amateur cornet player is all the music any neighborhood will need."

Yes, that's very true, and you might add that one amateur piano player can fill an ordinary size lunatic asylum in less than a week's time. Smallpox next door is looked upon as an awful calamity, but this passes away. A rattle-trap piano and a rattle-brained performer, however, come to stay.

JUDGING from the pictures of candidates plastered all over the city of Louisville, the festive office seekers in the Falls City are trying to win on their good looks, or their shape. "Vote for John Jones for councilman in the 'steenth ward' greets the eye everywhere."

LEXINGTON officials are talking of getting a patrol wagon to be run by electricity. We presume this is because the wagon is used so much that horses give out and are unable to pull all the drunks run in.

A STRIKE of grave diggers is the latest thing in Philadelphia. Nine times in ten, strikers dig their own graves when they walk out. Strikes are becoming a grave proposition, at any rate.

A Sprained Ankle Quickly Cured. "At one time I suffered from a severe sprain of the ankle," says Geo. E. Cary, editor of the Guide, Washington, Va. "After using several well recommended medicines without success, I tried Chamberlain's Pain Balm and am pleased to say that relief came as soon as I began its use and a complete cure speedily followed." Sold by R. E. McRoberts, Druggist.

Bezema, salthum, tetter, chafing, try poisoning and all skin troubles are quickly cured by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. The certain cure. F. P. Frisbie.

Lawyers are men who work with a will. Doctors often provide the way. Call at McRoberts' Drug Store and get a free sample of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They are an elegant physic. They also improve the appetite, strengthen the digestion and regulate the liver and bowels. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect.

Some doctors take life easy—others take whatever they can. A surgical operation is not necessary to cure piles. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve saves all that expense and never fails. Beware of counterfeits. F. P. Frisbie.

It is not the dress that makes the chorus-girl—it's the thighs.

"A few months ago, food which ate for breakfast would not remain on my stomach for half an hour. I used one bottle of your Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and can now eat my breakfast and other meals with a relish and my food is thoroughly digested. Nothing equals Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for stomach troubles. H. S. Pitts, Arlington, Tex. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat. F. P. Frisbie.

Political parties have one thing in common; they are all anxious to save the country—from some other party.

A Gentle Hint.

In our style of climate, with its sudden changes of temperature, rain, wind and sunshine often intermingled in a single day, it is no wonder that our children, friends and relatives are so frequently taken from us by neglected colds, half the deaths resulting directly from this cause. A bottle of Boschee's German Syrup kept about your home for immediate use will prevent serious sickness, a large doctor's bill, and perhaps death, by the use of three or four doses. For curing Consumption, Hemorrhages, Pneumonia, Severe Coughs, Croup, or any other disease of the Throat or Lungs, its success is simply wonderful, as your druggist will tell you. Get a sample bottle free at Stomach Drug Store. Regular size 75c. Get Green's Prize Almanac.

Newton, Kansas, recently shipped to California a train load of eggs. There were two huge refrigerator cars, containing 149,000 dozen.

A Michigan tobacco grower will turn a duck of 3,000 ducks in his two hundred acres of tobacco, and says they will get fat on tobacco worms.

Richmond Pantagraph:—Two thousand head of poultry, and ten thousand dozen of eggs were shipped from here Friday to the New York City market. J. H. Neff, the consignor.

Richard Croker, of New York, bought of Col. W. S. Barnes, of Lexington, the noted thoroughbred brood mare Bonito Belle, 16, by Falsotto, and her yearling colt, Beau Imperial, by Jim Gore. The price is said to be $18,000, $6,000 being for the colt.

The Western Tobacco Journal, upon the information of various correspondents, learns that in most sections of the State tobacco plants are fairly abundant, but in some localities in the north-central portion they have been destroyed by insects and are very scarce.

One of the best farmers in the county tells the Sayings that the average yield of wheat in Mercer this year will not be over eight bushels to the acre. He, however, modified his statement by saying that Wm. Durham and Sam Forsyth each have 100 acres he is almost certain will thresh 35 bushels to the acre.

Last year the poultry earnings of the United States amounted to over $300,000,000, being a greater value by $22,000,000 than our entire wheat crop; $107,000,000 greater than our swine brought in; $4,000,000 more than our cotton crop, and more than three times as great as all the interest paid on mortgages during the year.

The cry of a shortage in tobacco plants has come with such regularity at this season for years past that its repetition now will not attract much attention. The fact nevertheless is that the situation in this county is really serious and will cut an important figure in an already greatly reduced acreage.—Mt. Sterling Gazette.

At the Will Burton sale near Stanford, J. B. Burton bought the farm of $24 acres at $40; milk cows $10 to $22; yearling mules $40; hogs $4.75 to $6.75; farming implements sold low. Several farmers have sold their hogs at 5c, for this month's delivery. Dicks killed eight or ten sheep for L. T. Doty a few days since.

An Iowa paper tells of a farmer in the State who is satisfied with a fifty-acre farm. He finds that to keep it in the best possible condition it gives him all the work he wants to do, and besides making a living for himself and wife, he sells from $800 to $1,000 worth of produce a year. The old adage, "A little farm well tilled," is as true as ever.

Lexington Gazette:—Most of the hogs in this section have been shipped in fact but very few remain. Fewer hogs are being fed for the summer market than ever before known. This is owing to the fact that hogs have been bringing good prices for some time, and a nickel a pound is a great temptation to let them go. Added to this is the fact that corn is scarce and high, and these facts will account for the scarcity of fat hogs for the summer market.

Kentucky dealers, perhaps have never figured on the profit to be derived from the eggs in shipping a car load of chickens to California at this time of the year the egg laid during the eight days of transit about paying the freight. The car will hold about 3,000, and each day the eggs are gathered and at the end of the journey 200 cases will have been filled, which when sold in California at 15 cents a dozen, will realize $450, which amount will pay the charges on the car. Cases can be taken along and all calculations made to care for the daily supply of eggs. The hen is sure a good thing.—Ex.

A new plan having for its object the distribution of young trees throughout the country will be put into practical operation next year by the Secretary of Agriculture. An investigation has been made to discover the varieties which will thrive best in the various localities, and the distribution will be made in a manner somewhat similar to that employed in the seed distribution authorized by Congress. Special attention will be given to trees of the nut bearing, shade and lawn variety, and oaks, ash and linden will also constitute a prominent portion of the distribution. The Secretary believes that the idea will prove popular.

When the Hair Falls Out

swollen glands, aching muscles, the mouth, eruptions on the skin, sore throat, copper colored spots, rapid headway, and far worse symptoms will follow unless the blood is promptly and effectually cleansed of this violent destructive poison.

S. S. S. is the only safe and infallible cure for this disease. It cures the worst cases thoroughly and permanently.

My Condition Could Have Been No Worse.

I am no good; I was getting worse all the time; my hair came out, my eyes appeared in my throat and mouth, my body was almost covered with copper colored spots, and offensive in my shoulders and arms. My condition could have been no worse; only those afflicted with S. S. S. can understand my sufferings. I had about lost all hope of ever being well again when I decided to try S. S. S., but most confess I had little faith left in any medicine. After taking the third bottle I noticed a change in my condition. This was truly encouraging, and I determined to give S. S. S. a thorough trial. I found that the improvement was rapid; S. S. S. seemed to have the case completely under control; the swollen glands healed and I was soon free from all signs of the disease. I have been strong and healthy ever since. L. W. SMITH, Lock Box 61, Saffordville, Ind.

Dr. Goldstein Returns.

Dr. R. Goldstein, of Louisville, will be at Lancaster, June 11, 1901, for a few days only at the New Garrard Hotel and will fit glasses to the eyes of all who need them. He has made the study of optics a specialty, and anyone in need of glasses can not do better than to give him a call. He will be found at his room at the New Garrard Hotel.

Parents of children whose eyes are in any way affected should take them to Dr. Goldstein and have them examined. Too much care can not be taken in this particular, as any neglect of the parents may lead to most serious consequences in after life. If the eyes of a child need glasses the doctor can determine it and adjust such glasses as will be most apt to preserve and increase their strength.

This gentleman has been giving satisfaction for many years, and we recommend him as worthy the patronage of the public. Those suffering with their eyes should call on him and if they don't get relief it will not cost them a cent. He can adjust to any eyes and any age.

A good glass rightly adjusted is a luxury to a person with failing sight they can not afford to do without. A glass imperfectly adjusted is worse than no glass.

A printer recently tried his hand at farming, but couldn't make things work right, and is now back at the "case." He had a "wrongfont" team—a mule and a horse—and this would not "justify." He said the farmer "fired" him after he had "pied" three or four "columns" of potatoes. He showed his limited experience by asking the farmer's wife if she wanted the hens "set solid or leaded."—Ex.

Take your plow, go into the bottoms where there is a known surplus of rich soil, plow four or five inches deep, put your team to a common pond scraper and dump on the poor points sufficiently close. When scattered the soil will be three or four inches in depth. More good can be accomplished in one day in this way with one hand and team than twenty years clovering will do, for the reason that clover nor anything else will grow where there is no soil. Judgment should be exercised to move only the soil where there is a known surplus, for to impoverish one point to enrich another would be bad policy. By such treatment of the eye sores on your farms their value will be increased from $5 to $15 an acre.—Farmers Home Journal.

Through an oversight, the name of W. O. Rigney was omitted from the list of officers elected by the Commercial Club. He was made treasurer, which position he has held since the club was first organized.

Suit has been brought at Stanford against the Cumberland Telephone Co., for $20,000 by the administrator of young Martin, who was killed by lightning. Plaintiffs claim the charge was carried to deceased by defective telephone wires.

Load the Shotgun.—Until the Dog.

A band of burglars has been operating in Mercer, Lincoln and Boyle counties for the past month. Ten tramps have been arrested and placed in jail at Harrodsburg. Stanford and Hustonville have been suffering from similar depredations.

The Truth of the Matter.

If the local Commercial Club wants to bring something to town that will please everybody, let it secure a date for a good circus. There is not a man in the county that wouldn't rather see a circus than eat the best meal ever prepared, and he that saith nay is full of prunes of the poorest variety.

Decorations of Graves.

The Knights of Pythias and Macabees will meet on the 16th, hold appropriate exercises in the court house and then proceed to the Cemetery, where the graves of departed brethren will be strewn with flowers. The Odd Fellows will have similar exercises on the 11th, next Tuesday.

Goodbye, Old Eyesore.

The City Council ordered the rickety, old band stand torn out of the park, the fence painted, the grass cut and notified the Electric Light Co., to paint the large pole in the centre of the Public Square. The public should send the Council a bouquet of American Beauty roses for this good work.

Electric Light.

Danville Advocate:—Mr. E. H. Fox is putting a small electric light plant in his engraving department to furnish light for night work. A one-horse power gas engine has arrived, which will be used to run the presses and dynamo was specially designed and will furnish a current of sufficient strength for a 2,000 candle power arc light.

Another Old Landmark.

Miss Sallie Tillett has commenced tearing away her portion of the old Peacock property, on Danville street. She sold the brick portion to Dr. Kinnaird and he has remodeled that and put in splendid shape. Miss Tillett will at once erect a two-story brick house, with large room in front for her millinery department, and living rooms above. This will make a great improvement on Danville street.

Train Service to Cincinnati.

The Blue Grass Vestibule, the fast train on the Queen & Crescent Route, which heretofore has run daily except Sunday, will, beginning June 2nd, be operated daily, Sunday included. No change in time will be made in either direction except that it will arrive in Cincinnati at 10:15 a. m. instead 10:20 Northbound. This magnificent vestibuled train carries elegant free parlor cars, and is run on fast schedules.

Plans Almost Complete.

Mr. Bastin has almost completed arrangements for the removal of the telephone exchange to rooms over Stormes' drug store. This will give much more room and put the office in a far more convenient place for patrons who have to go to "Central." A good feature of this move is the fact that all wires will be taken from the poles on the Public Square and run by cables to the main office, thus doing away with the unsightly poles.

True Oh King. Yea, Verily.

Winchester Democrat:—You may approximate the stars to a nail keg, hang the ocean on a grape vine to dry, wipe the nose of a cyclone with a towel, cut off the tail end of a tornado for a keepsake, put the sky in a gourd to soak, unbuckle the belly band of eternity and open up the sun and moon as health resorts, but never delude yourself with the idea that you can escape the other side of purgatory if you don't pay the printer.

As Mr. Watterson Sees It.

Hon. Henry Watterson, the great editor of the Courier-Journal, in an interview has this to say regarding municipal affairs: "There ought, indeed, to be no such thing as party lines in local affairs. What do those who rob the people alike in Republican Philadelphia or in Democratic Chicago, know about political issues, or care about political convictions? They label themselves according as they think they can get votes, and after election do precisely as suits their jobbing interests."

Solve This.

The Cynthia Democrat is making a "mitation" over the following problem, which was submitted by the Board of Examiners of Harrison county to the applicants for certificates to teach. If any were found that could not solve the problem, they certainly should not be authorized to teach. Here is the "sum": A sells a cow for 10 per cent less than cost, and buys her back for 10 per cent more than he got for her. In so doing he loses $5.70. What was the first cost of the cow?

Recognized at Washington.

The only instance on record when a post office has been named after a patent medicine, was last year, when in Wetzel County, W. Va., a new post office was established and named Kodol, after the famous Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, manufactured by E. C. Dewitt & Co., of Chicago. It has given such satisfactory results that the name was unanimously selected by the people for the new office and adopted by the department at Washington, D. C. F. P. Frisbie, dealer. It

Chautauqua.

The fifteenth annual session of the Kentucky Chautauqua will be held at Woodland Park, Lexington, Ky., June 26 to July 5. A splendid program has been arranged, that will surpass any yet given. Some of the most notable lecturers and entertainers in America have been engaged. A great musical program will be presented and many new and special features. The detailed program will be mailed upon application to Chas. Scott, Business Manager, Lexington, Ky.

A Different Branch.

A good Presbyterian brother, noticing The Record's comment on the action of the "United Presbyterian Church" general assembly's action in excluding from its membership all Odd Fellows and Masons, asks us to say that it is an entirely different body of worship from the regular Presbyterian church. This is generally understood, but for fear some might think it the regular church, we will say that the "United" people have nothing whatever to do with "we" Presbyterians hereabouts. For which let us give thanks.

The Kind Wanted.

It is the desire of the Commercial Club to get all public spirited citizens of Garrard county to become members of the organization. What the Club wants is men who are "Garrard county men," not the misfits who are constantly working for the interests of other towns and enterprises. In other words, if you think you cannot put your shoulder to the wheel and push for Garrard county's interests and enterprises in preference to those of foreigners, your room is far more desirable than your company. If you are a "home" man, come join the procession.

An Odd Job.

H. B. Northcott, the hustling poultry and ice man, has a horse whose front hoofs have had a very remarkable growth, as they were about four inches longer than those of any animal ever seen in this section of the state. The length greatly impaired the travel of the animal and Mr. N. decided to have the feet trimmed. The horse was sent to Ned Burdett's shop with instructions to "trim off a little." Instead, Ned took a hand saw and ripped off three-and-a-half inches from each foot. The hoof cut clean and straight, new shoes put on and the horse sent on his way rejoicing.

Was Handled With Care.

Danville News:—Friday night a box arrived here on the train addressed to the circus. On the top was this inscription: "Handle with care; snakes," the injunction was obeyed to the letter. The snakes were shipped from Philadelphia and were sent C. O. D., the charges being $90. Late Saturday afternoon one of the show men opened the box and transferred the snakes to another. There were eleven, the longest being fourteen feet and the shortest five. One of the big ones was dead and the show fellow gave it to Johnston Allen, who will mount it. It measured ten feet and was a boa-constrictor.

Wheat Wanted.

H. A. B. Marksbury & Son are in the market for several thousand bushels of wheat, and will pay the highest market price for same.

Low Rates via Queen & Crescent.

Montreal, N. C. Christian Workers Assembly, July 21-Aug. 4th. On sale July 22nd, good returning Aug. 8th. Milwaukee, Wis. Grand Lodge, B. P. O. E. July 23-25th. Long limit, and low rates.

Again in Charge.

Col. R. M. Kelley, who resigned as editor and Albert S. Dietzman, who resigned as manager of the Louisville Commercial, a little over three years ago, have again taken charge of that paper, and are preparing to give the Republicans of Kentucky an organ they may feel proud of. During the retirement of Messrs. Kelly and Dietzman the Commercial was under control of strangers, unfamiliar with State politics, and a number of blunders were made. Messrs. Kelly and Dietzman, who are now in control again, are staunch Republicans, thoroughly posted as to State and national affairs, and will, no doubt, make the Commercial the idol of the Republican party.

A Former Lancaster Boy Honored.

The following, taken from the Atlanta News is of interest to the many friends of Mr. Elkin here in his old home:

The Georgia Pharmaceutical Association elected Dr. W. S. Elkin, Jr., of Atlanta, president of their body. He was elected by acclamation, no other name being presented. Mr. Elkin made a very graceful address to the association this morning after his election as president, and assured them of his appreciation of the honor, he said: "We stand in a most responsible position between the learned physician and his patient. If the druggist fails in his duty what profits it if the physician diagnose and prescribe ever so wisely? On our fidelity not only his success depends, but the alleviation of the pain of the patient, his restoration to health, his very life may hang on the care which we have taken to let no lack of skill or temptation of profit cause us to fail in administering the most excellent materials and in bringing the highest skill to their preparation."

A Good Roads Convention.

There will be a Good Roads Convention in Louisville, June 27 and 28. This date has been selected because it is the date of the proposed visit of the "Good Roads Train" that has been touring the South and building sample roads. We understand the expense of this train is paid by the I. C. Railroad. It carries the latest improved machinery for the construction of dirt, macadam and gravel roads, and the improved methods of road construction are illustrated by building sample roads in some selected locality. The residents in the vicinity where road is to be constructed are expected to supply the material, twelve strong teams for hauling the machines and twelve laborers. The train carries 14 experienced road-makers, who are under the direction of a representative of the National Good Roads Association, assisted by a representative of Public Road Inquiry, office of the Department of Agriculture. It is stated that Gov. Beckham will be asked to appoint three delegates to the convention from each county in the State. The farmers of the State will be especially invited.—Farmers Home Journal.

Important Decision.

Sometime ago Senator George T. Farris obtained an American History, which was sold in Indiana at 65c. by Grim & Co., of Boston, the same book being sold in Kentucky at $1, by the same firm, which is under a bond of $10,000 to sell the books at a uniform price. The Senator, always a faithful public servant, requested Miss Eliza Lusk, school superintendent, to bring suit for the $10,000 damages. She employed Welch & Williams, H. McMurtry and L. L. Walker, who filed suit, after Prof. J. H. Patterson, one of the best friends of the cause of education in the State, filed complaints, as required by law. The defendant demurred to the petition, the circuit court sustaining the demurrer and ordering certain matter to be struck from the petition. Attorneys for plaintiff appealed the case, the upper court reversing the judgment of the lower court, giving plaintiff power to proceed against the book company, and to recover the sum of $10,000, provided they prove the breach of bond by selling the same book at different prices, and get judgment. They say that they will easily furnish the proof and, as the money will go to the schools of Garrard county, those who furnished the facts and worked on the case will be regarded as public benefactors.

JUST A WOMAN'S WAY

BY CLYDE DUNNING.

It is a rainy, disagreeable day. Elizabeth and her cousin "Jack" are seated on a sofa in a well-furnished room, before a glowing hearth. A long silence, when Elizabeth says, suddenly:

"Jack, do think of something to amuse me. I am as blue as indigo!"

"Certainly, my dear cousin. What shall I do? Favor you with a skirt dance, turn cartwheels, pull 20 colors of silk ribbon from my chops, or—"

"Oh, Jack! Why are you so foolish?" "Well, I can't say, ye know, unless—"

"Thoughtfully, 'I'm a mere commonplace sort of animal. But what can I do?' And Jack seats himself on the head of the sofa and gazes down, rather disconsolately, into a pair of moist eyes. "By jove, I wish Arlington could see you now! He'd have a little foundation for his unreasonable 'Odes to E—' full of 'liquid eyes' and—"

A furtive dab of a handkerchief to the said "liquid eyes" appealed powerfully to him, and he broke off abruptly.

"By the way," he says, finally, "have you heard that Eastman leaves for Europe soon?" Some fellows at the club hinted that you are the prime benefactor in blessing society with his absence for an indefinite period."

The handkerchief is unreservedly in use now. "It can't be that you're smuffling about him," savagely. A faint sound, rather difficult to classify, is the only reply.

"Are you?" he persists, relentlessly. The handkerchief goes down, and Elizabeth sits bolt upright.

Finally she says: "I can't tell you what I'm crying about, but I'm in trouble, Jack, and want you to help me."

"Don't see how I can help you." "By giving me advice, and—"

"All right, 'Barkis is willing,' but if that old Eastman is in it it'll go hard with him, and don't you forget it!"

"Well," Elizabeth begins, pulling at the fringe on the sofa, "suppose, just suppose—"

"All right, I've supposed it." "That a certain young lady had known a certain young gentleman for a long time, in fact, all her life, and he'd been very, very kind to her—"

"Eastman to a T!" growls Jack. "And that he had asked her to marry him, and she had refused—"

"So Eastman and I are in the same boat!" interpolates the landscape observer. "Telling him that she had the sincerest regard for him, and that she felt like a sister to him, you know," pursues Elizabeth.

"Yes, I know." "And she really thought so then, but afterward, when he seemed to be a little afraid to be quite the same dear old friend, she felt different, and later, when she heard that he was going away for a long, long time, she knew that she cared a great deal more for him than her sister ever could—"

"Lucky dog!" "And that she would never be happy without him, and—"

"Say, Elizabeth, what do you see in that frog, anyway?" demands Jack, turning squarely around. "Just leave him alone; you needn't be afraid of being an old maid. Remember you've got me to fall back on if you don't get another chance. I'm a whole lot better investment than—"

"Don't interrupt me! Turn your back and pay attention." "That's the way! You'll never take a good thing when you see it. But, remember, it isn't my fault." And Jack readjusts himself.

"And she is just as miserable as she can be. It may be that he doesn't care for her any more."

"The heart that has truly loved, etc., etc.," quotes Jack, softly.

"Well, suppose she loves her, yet she can't tell him she's changed her mind, and—O, Jack, what shall I do?" "Mightn't a personal in the Sunday papers. Eastman doesn't leave till Monday."

"Now, Jack, I'm sure you can devise some plan to help me."

"I don't know, unless you can arrange to walk into a room where he is some time with your left eye turned up and your fan in your right hand pointing downward on a direct line with the toe of your right foot. Seems to me that that is part of Love's Telegraph that means 'I return.'"

"Oh, Jack, how can you?" "How can I? Ain't I doing my level best to help you back with Eastman, and you treat me just like that? Never mind, you'll be punished sufficiently when you get him."

And Jack turns his aggrieved back on her—perhaps to hide his real feelings.

"But what?" gruffly. "Can't you suggest something?"

"Well, you know that I am going away myself to-morrow, but I might see Eastman to-night and suggest that he had better tell you again. Then you'll be happy. And I'll go to the devil," he adds, after a short pause.

"Oh, that would never do!" "Well, Elizabeth, it's what I call hard lines to have to advise the girl you love better than all the world beside on such a matter. But if you really want to let him know that you feel differently now, you might send a note and tell him that you would like to see him once more, on some pretext or other. He'd surely come. Then all your difficulty would end, and you'd have the blissful privilege of seeing his blooming picture as long as even you would care to," he finishes, moodily. "How does that strike you?"

"Dear old Jack, you're a dream!" exclaims Elizabeth, bestowing a kiss on his forehead with a heartiness which sets him tingling deliciously. Before he could turn, however, she is gone, leaving him nothing else to do but to secure his hat and umbrella and walk to the club.

When Jack calls the next morning to bid the family good-by, it is not the Elizabeth of yesterday that greets him, but the old Elizabeth, calm, amiable, as if she had never sought any "cousinly advice" or bestowed a cousinly kiss upon the tall young fellow who held her hand so long at parting.

"Wonder if I dare kiss her?" he thinks. The old Elizabeth had always frowned upon such cousinly demonstrations. "Believe 'I try it!' Rather to his surprise, she permits the caress, which he attributes to his 'suggestion concerning Eastman.'"

"Well, good-by, Elizabeth," he says. "You'll write me how it all pans out, won't you?"

"You shall know all about it," laughs Elizabeth. A half hour later, just as Jack is boarding an outgoing train, a blue-coated messenger boy touches his arm and hands him a square, white missive. Lucky youth to have been paid in advance! This is what Jack reads:

"Dear Jack: I should like to see you once more, 'on some pretext or other.'"

The Making of Good Coffee

Begins in the growing. Anywhere between the plantation and the coffee pot the flavor may be changed, the quality spoiled by carelessness, inexperience, or unscrupulous methods. From the time Arbuckles' Coffee leaves the hands of the grower until it reaches the user in a sealed packet, it is handled with the same watchful care, the same thought for cleanliness, that you would give any article of food that goes on your table. That's the reason it costs the grocer a cent a pound more than its cheap imitations. The extra cent you pay for buys much more than a cent's worth of quality and strength. A pound of Arbuckles' Coffee will give you more cupfuls of better coffee than you would get from other package coffees.

Be sure you get Arbuckles' Roasted Coffee. Other package coffees are but imitations of Arbuckles'.

In each pound package of Arbuckles' Roasted Coffee there is a list of articles. With each package in which the list is found the purchaser has bought a definite part of some article to be selected by him or her from the list, subject only to the condition that the signature on the package is to be put out and returned to our Solicitor Dept. You should see this list. Address all communications to Samples free at R. E. McRoberts drug store.

Men sometimes build better than they know. But the contractor on a political job always knows better than he builds.

Mr. W. S. Wheldon, Cashier of the First National Bank of Winterset, Iowa, in a recent letter gives some experience with a carpenter in his employ, that will be of value to other mechanics. He says: "I had a carpenter working for me who was obliged to stop work for several days on account of being troubled with diarrhoea. I mentioned to him that I had been similarly troubled and that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy had cured me. He bought a bottle of it from the drugstore here and informed that one dose cured him, and he is again at his work." For sale by R. E. McRoberts, Druggist.

No Deceit About This. "You told me," said the infuriated purchaser, "that that brook on the farm you sold me never ran dry."

"Guess I did," said the real estate man. "It has been dry all summer."

"When it was dry it didn't run, did it? Therefore, it could not run dry. We never deceive." — Philadelphia Press.

Demurrer Entered. "My niece," said the doctor, "has joined an organization they call the—strange I can't think of the name. I had it at my tongue's end a moment ago—O, yes, I remember it now. They call it the Thimble Club."

"Then you didn't have it at your tongue's end," objected the professor. "You had it at your finger's end." — Chicago Tribune.
